Gulf Coast Wildlife Rescue continues its mission to rescue injured and orphaned wild animals. In the wake of Hurricane Beryl, GCWR continued to intake animals despite having lost power and water. GCWR received over 1,000 calls from the public in the days following the hurricane. With the help of volunteers, generators and hard work, the animals already in care and those pouring in were able to receive top-notch care.

Over 100 young nestling Mississippi kites, 50 young herons and over 30 baby squirrels were rescued by caring individuals from the wreckage, and almost all were successfully rehabbed and released in the weeks that followed. This year, GCWR also rescued over 100 black-bellied whistling ducks, dozens of baby owls, hawks and possums, a beautiful adult coyote, fawns, bunnies, pelicans, Bald Eagles and even a large gator out of the gulf. GCWR has proven itself...we will be there for the wildlife when it matters. Thank you for helping support this worthy cause!

Remember, there are NO expenditures for staff. GCWR operates entirely through volunteers with 100% of your donations going to medical supplies, housing, and foods. We strive to be good stewards of the donations we receive.
